

Unused or Almost Expired Factor?

In those rare occasion that you have factor that is about to expired or you have a pile of unused factor, there are a couple organizations that can assist you in donating it to someone in need.

Project SHARE, a program of Save One Life accepts donations of unused and unwanted factor. Their goal is to recover excess unused factor that would otherwise be wasted or destroyed. <https://saveonelife.net/>
EMAIL: share@saveonelife.net or CALL: 978-352-7652.

The HTC in Indiana also coordinates donation of factor that is unused and unwanted with their Kenyan colleagues. Reach out to Chris Roberson for additional information on their process. EMAIL: croberson@ihtc.org

For both of these organizations, they will assist you shipping your factor to the necessary location to ensure it gets in the correct hands. While unexpired factor is always preferred, you may reach out to see if they would accept your expired factor.
